IPM Voice Action Alert

Draft House Farm Bill Includes Threat to IPM Projects
The draft bill released last week by the House Agriculture Committee includes a new 1:1 matching funds requirement for all commodity and state-specific competitive grants programs involving applied research or extension. If included in the final farm bill, this provision will create match hurdles for most competitively awarded extension projects and integrated projects, including IPM projects.

Act today! The House Ag Committee vote is expected tomorrow.

1. Please call your Representatives and let them know that this provision adds unnecessary obstacles to IPM and other competitive grants programs. Find your Representative here. If your Representative is a member of the House Committee on Agriculture, your voice is especially important.

2. Please contact your commodity and grower association leaders and alert them to this provision. Inform them that funding for commodity-specific IPM projects may be threatened if the matching requirement is included in the final farm bill. Request that they contact their Representatives as well. Please relay replies received from Representatives or collaborators to Jim Cubie, jimcubie@gmail.com, so he can track contacts and responses.
